Let them be placed side by side in that great car of progress which your philosophers speak so much about; and their bessed influence will be shed around. Before you part with the Constitution, show me what you are to have in the place. I do not believe in a grinciple of force at all. The gentleman to whom I alluded a moment since [Mr. Wendell Phillips] said that the age of bullets had passed. But I am not quite sure of that. I think Solferino don't preach that doctrine. The age of bullets ought to have passed long ago, but has not. We cannot operate upon man to make him obey the law, unless we present to him the alternative of force. Have you not observed that, except in our own case, and in 1641 in Great Britain, no people ever obeyed a law unless they thought it came from God Almighty? That is so. How did Moses make the vagabond people whom he led out of slavery obey the law? By showing that it was not the law of Moses, but the law of the Almighty. In the records of the Hindoo it is the same. So, too, with the Zendevasta of Zoroaster, the Persian law-giver. His laws prescribed the duties of servant to master, wife to husband, as well as the religious duties of man. Man never did obey the law of man until the enlightened age in which we live. The Jew's got to quarreling about States rights laughter], because they didn't like the Constitution of SP [renewed laughter], and they wanted a king. Samuel knew what kind of a man they wanted, and he got Saul. And the poor old fellow, when he got the cares of government on him, like some of our Presidents, became insane, and did strange things, [laughter]. And poor Mr. Buchanan, hus treated the David of his household, Mr. Douglas, very much as Saul treated his. [Renewed laughter]. Mr. Douglas goes through the song of Popular Sovereignty with his harp, and Mr. Buchanan throws a cannon at him instead of a javelin. [Laughter.] Now, my fellow. Hitzens, all I ask of you is to concede to the South the rights they hold under the Constitutio and not at some to take a many from those people while to the shift of the shift of need that term intended to convey the idea that violence was to be done? Another principle of the Republican party is the freedom of the public lands. In the last Congress it was proposed that a quuarter section of land be given to each poor settler in the territories. Southern men voted against he measure. If they had offered each setler 2,660 acres the South would have voted for it.

A quir re section would be if no use to Southern men.
Two thousand acres would be large enough to put their niggers on and make them available. Northern Democrats voted against it because they didn't think it was a good thing [laughter], to vote for it. But look at the result. Two thousand acres in a plantation would have been occupied by one family and 50 negroes. The same put in quarter sections would have contained 12 families, and in time, as I heard a lawyer any, there would be "subsequential consequences" contained 12 families, and in time, as I heard a lawyer may, there would be "subsequential consequences" [Laughter]. School-houses, and churches, and villages would be built; instead of one vote there would have been 30 or 40 white citizens. The poor white man in the Slave States, too, would be benefited by having a quarter section of hand fited by having a quarter section of hand given him in the Territory. The Republican party, too, has another important office. Eight millions of revenue were to be poured into the treasury, and poured out again, and the great question of retrenchment was coming up for them to act upon. treasury, and poured out again, and the great question of retreachment was coming up for them to act upon. FillBostering, too, has to be stopped. The party who carries out these different policies will show itself to be worthy of shaping the course of this country in all future time. [Applause.] If it fails to do this, sooner or later it will be cut down. They were the principles of the old Whig party, and of the Democratic party until 1848.

In conclusion, Mr. Corwin read a stirring appeal to Republicans to be present at the polls, and insure the success of the ticket.

Mr. JAMES COOLIDGE CARTER offered the following

Mr. James Coolider Carter offered the following RESOLUTIONS:

1. Resoled, That we, the Republicans of the City of New-York, have assembled to-night in preparation for the general election now at hand, to declare our attachment to the great principles upon which our organization stands, and to pledge to each other our best efforts to main ain and preserve them.

2. Resoled, That under the rule of the self-styled Democracy the Federal Government has been and still is shanelessly protikated, in a base subservieucy to the Slave Fewer; that this Power is still dominant in the high places of the nation; and that, for the purpose of extending and perpetuating itself, it has sanctioned and aided, in a distant territory, crimes over which the indignation of the country is not yet silent, trampled upon the sacred right of suffrage, and made a desperate though vain endeavor to faster a tyramy upon the necks of a free people; that, in pursuit of the same end, it has introduced political and financial corruption into every department of the General Government, and sacrificed the great and paramount interests of free labor; and that now, not content with its past aggressions, it is unblushingly seeking to receive what dederson demounced as the "excerable commerce in men.

3. Resoled, That the effect a finan the capital of the nation—to restore the principles and the practice of the Fallers of the Republic—to prevent the extension of Slavery over a single foot of soil now free—to administer equal and exact justice to every part and section of the country—to preserve with jealous care the reserved and sameral rights of the Slavery over a single foot of soil now free—to administer equal and exact justice to every part and section of the country—to preserve with jealous care the reserved and sameral rights of the Slavery over a single foot of soil now free—to administer equal and caset justice to every part and section of the country—to preserve with jealous care the reserved and sameral rights of the Slavery over a single foot and true pairiet of every name to join us, we mean to early them to victury.

4. Messleed, That we declare our devotion to all the principles and parts of our Federal Constitution, and our unchaken attachment to the Unit of the a to to the the West would had write patitude and joy the day water "the last fetter shall fall from "the last slave," we yet would not venture to approach this said through any violations of our constitutional obligations: that Slavery in the States to a thing for w. I have are not responsible, and we leave the cut all the remedy to the justice and the slades of those who have the proper control over it.

5. Resolved, That the recent disturbance of the domestic peace of Virginia deserves and receives our strongest condemnation; and that the value endeaver to fix upon some of our distinguished leaders a complicity with that lawless outbreak, is but one of the dishenest resorts by which our opponents hope to escape the great issue which is pressing them into defeat; but that, nevertheless, we seen the alarm and terror which this event has aroused, and in the said prostration by a Virginia Court in the manife die burge of the Executive Ametions of our State Ger manifile discharge of the Executive Innections of our State Gererment.

7. Revelved. That the resext shameful partiags series of the Democrats in the Board of Supervisors, in making the arbointments of Registrats was a deflicerate and intestional effort to defeat the wholesome provisions of the Registry act—to stifle the voice of the people at the polls—to farmen shelter for contemplated frants—and ought to receive the condemnation of every homest citizen.

2. Researce, that our late Convention at Syraense, in presenting for our suffrages so admirable a selection of candidates, has well discharged its duty. We ratify the result of its labors, and piedge to the ticket it has given us, as well as to our own local nominations, a cordial and hearty support.

9. Researcd, That we catch with delight the sounds of triumph which come to us from our trethren in the Great West. We half there as supplicious signs of mightier victories in the great national struggle yet to come, and promise that they shall have from ne un early each worthy of the Empire State.

The resolutions having been unanimously adonted.

The resolutions having been unanimously adopted, Senstor A. C. Dives was introduced, and received with lond applause. He began by remarking that the country had departed from the doctrines of Washington and Jefferson, and it was now the duty of the Repubhean party to endeavor to return to them, even by a struggle against a corrupt Administration. It was not their duty to meddle with the right of Congress to their duty to meddle with the right of Congress to make the Fugitive Slave law, or meddle with domestic institutions, but to return to the doctrines of Jefferson in all their purity and fixed, then the gates of hell could not prevail against them. The enemies of freedom would not approach the direct issues of the Republican party, but contented themselves by saying they had nothing else but nigger to rely on—take that away, and they had nothing else to rely on—take that away, and they had nothing else to rely on. He said there were men in the Republican ranks as proud of having been Democrats as Mr. Corwin was of having been an old Whig, and, referring to Buchanan's persecution of Douglas, said he was this day as boldly opposed to the doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty as President Buchanan; he had never said that the settlers of a country had a right to oppose the settlement of Slavery in it so long as it was a Territory. Let Republicans war for their principles, do battle at the ballot-box—not as the soft-fingered gentry who were ashamed to vote, but as freemen discharging a noble duty—no old Free-Soiler ever quiled before a mob, or would not fight his way to the ballot-box if needful; but if they were afraid let them appoint their election one day later, and the poople would come in from the country and help to defend the voters and ballot-boxes of New-York. His remarks were concluded amid loud applause, mingled with calls for Hoxie and Fry.

Mr. Fay responded. He thought this display would awake the opponents of the Republican party from their Recent and years of the Republican party from their Recent and years of the Republican party from their Recent and years of the Republican party from their Recent and years of the Republican party from their Recent and years of the respective party from their Recent and years of the Republican party from the country and help to defend the years of the Republican party from their Recent and years and fail their futile efforts to black. make the Fugitive Slave law, or meddle with domestic awake the opponents of the Republican party from their Brown study, and foil their futile efforts to blacktheir Brown study, and foil their futile efforts to blacken the character of one of our noblest men—William H. Seward. [Loud and continued applause and cheers.] It was a cowardly attempt to stab a noble man in the back when he couldn't help himself. It was not the written Constitution of a country which governed it, but public sentiment. Let Republicans reform that, Constitutions were useless. [Hisses and applause.] England was a specimen of a country in which they had no Constitution either for or against Slavery; they had it and abolished it without a word about it in their Constitution. When men wished to make pirates of themselves, or to rob and steal, they didn't wish it put in plain black and white. He didn't believe in Constitutions; thought he had something in him higher than any Constitution [hisses and cheers]; was no reformer; merely stated divine, philosophical truths. [Laughter.] There is no law in our State for which we have not some Constitution; but there is no Constitution for Slavery in the South; their laws on the subject are all mere declarations, and are constitutionally illegal. The Good Book tells us the laborer is worthy of his hire, and no man owes labor without recompense, to a o her. Loud cries for Hoxie, which interrupted t'e stealer, and continued for some time. At length Mr. Hoxie appeared, and was greeted with three lond eleers. He thought he surely had no friends in the audience to call him out at 11 o'clock to make a speech; hey ought to be indicted under the statute forbidding cruelty to animals; he thought he ought to move an adjournment [cries of no, no—go on, go on]; had much to do; had to attend one meeting in Jersey, where they proposed to annex Jersey to the United States, to-night (Friday), and another labor of love in the good cause; the next night on Long Island; a little more of the good work to do. The Republican party could beat all others at speaking, but they should also beat them at acting. Let them organize for the fight, close up the ranks, and not quarrel abou en the character of one of our noblest men-William Kelly, D. D. Conover, the Hon. S. P. Van Buren, Shas B. Duycher, and Ackerman C. Ellis, in short speeches, in which the vital questions of the day, as touching the political aspect of the country, and preliminary to the great contest of 1860, were discussed with spirited effect. The Republicans of the several Wards were urged to vigilance in detecting fraudulent voting at the ensuing election. At the registry just concluded, attempts at fraud have been numerous, and the strictest vigilance will be called forth in order to secure the great ends at which we aim. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting, which did not adjourn until a late hour, when the several organizations, preceded by their bands, proceeded to their respective Wards.

FROM GOV. CHASE OF OHIO.
COLUMNS, Oct. 31, 1859.

Republicans of New-York on the 3d of November. But my daties here forbid me to yield to the promptings of my inclination.

The verdict of Ohio in favor of Freedem and reform, this Fall, is emphasic and significant. Concurred in, as it is, by Iowa and Minnesota, and, so far as local results seem to findicate general sentiment, by Indiana also, it exhibits the fixed determination of the Free States of the Great Central Valley to exclude Slavery from National Territories, and to bring back our National Government to the principles of its founders.

In this resolution we are gratified to find ourselves sustained by the sober judgment of resadists Pennsylvania, and we are looking with combenne for the confirming saffrages of Wisconsin and Kaussa, as well as for that of your own Empire State.

Thus all the omens are anapticious. May courage and patience, visions and conclination, adeity to principle, disregard of personal considerations, and supreme devotion to the cause, distinguish our action, and insure a glorious trimpula to "the sacred side " which we espouse.

I remain, gentlemen, with great respect and regard, Your friend and fellow-citizen.

GENTIEMEN: Yours, saying the Republicans of the City of New-York will hold a satisfaction meeting preparatory to our State election, at the Cooper Institute, on Thursday evening, November 8, is just received, inviting me to attend the meeting. November 8, is just received, inviting me to attend the meeting. My engagements are such as to make it impossible for me to be in the city at the meeting; but be assured we are looking from this distant part of the State with deep interest upon the political proceedings of both the Republicans and anti-Republicans in the City of New-York. We are glad to see the Republicans of the city in motion, and condently believe the prospects are such as justify the bidding you be of good cheer. The watchfree of freedom are burning brightly through all the manity counties of the State, and the spirit and resolution everywhere manifested premise complete success to the Republican State ticket. With thanks for your invitation, and confidence that our best hopes will be realized.

Yours, very respectfully.

My DENA SIR: I restet that all the time remaining to me before my despar ture for Washington is so engrossed by businessengagements that I am compelled to decime your institution.

It is quite manifest that the Democracy of your city have detendined to render the ballot-box subservient to importure and corruption. I sincerally hope that the friends of Freedom will have no consistent feel any other tegret on that account than such as all decent men must experience at so sad an exhibition of political deprayity.

GENTLEMEN: I have just received your invitation to address a Ratification Meeting on Thoroday evening next, at the Cooper Institute.

I wish it was in my power to do so.

An assemblage of Republicans always presents strong attractions to me, but at this particular time, and in your city a determined utterance of truthful living sentiments would fall most gratefully on my ess.

Intense hostility to genuine democracy, domineering demials of the privilege of free action, lawless invasions of just regulations, have long held too great ascendancy in the politics of the City of New-York. Republicans and Republicanism are subjected to discourseyments and abuses such as hewe not been wit messed in any other free portion of the country.

The recent attempt to trample upon the estatute of the State, and to set common honesty at defiance in order to control the approaching election, is a claring example of the kind of apposition you are compelled constantly to encounter.

This shameful incident of the compaint is not, however, without its consoling uses.

It has fast ened upon you the anxious eyes of every portion of the State, and drawn to you the hopes and sympathies of thems ands who never passed the Palisades.

It implies me with a hearty wish to say to the true men who will assemble on Thursday, that Oneida County locks with deep interest upon the grapple in which they are engaged.

Unavoidable professional engagements, however, compel me to deny myself the pleasure of accepting your invitation.

Mesers Marshall and others, Committee, &c., New York, FROM THE HON, CHARLES HOGHER.

SANY HIRL, Oct. 30, 1859.

GENTLEMEN: Your note of the 26th inst. is before me, invitation, or the state and others, committee, &c., new York.

FROM THE HON. CHARLES HUGHES.

Samp Hills, Oct. 20, 1859.

GREYLEMEN: Your note of the 26th inst. is before me, inviting me to address a ratification meeting in your city on the 3d proxime.

I should be pleased to be with you and assist in cheering on your small storming party in the stronghold of the enemy, but other energements have been made for me, and I must of necessity decline.

There is much work to be done in the rural districts, where John Brown is not a "death" head and cross bones" to the people, and where "Union saving" is never made a trade.

Be of good cheer, the country is aroused, and all will be well.

The bills and valleys of the interdesion of the country is aroused.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

THE AMOUNT OF TAX TO BE LEVIED IN KINGS COUNTY.-The Board of Supervisors held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon, at which reports of differmeeting yesterday afternoon, at which reports of different Committees touching the finances of the country were presented. Among the documents was one from the State Controller, stating that the aggregate valuation of property in Kings County was $104,295,591, upon which sum a State tax of $260,738 98 is to be levied for the current year, of which $78,221 69 is for school purposes, $65,184 75 for the canals, and $117,-332 54 for general purposes. A resolution was adopted appropriating the same upon the several wards and

Mr. Fisher went out on one of his periodical gunning excursions, and, at the solicitation of his daughter. took her with him. The old gentleman hearing of fine sport in the neighborhood of Poughkeepsie, thitherward turned his steps. Selecting a hotel at which to leave his daughter, he found one kept by Mr. Creamer, a young man in moderate circumstances. While the daughter was at this hotel, and the old gentleman was in the woods pursuing game, the young man, Creamer, fell desperately in love with Miss Fisher. The passion was reciprocal, and marriage was proposed. This the young lady thought very romantic, and acceded to it, but was fearful her father would never consent. Time sped on and no means presented itself of overcoming the father's dreaded objection. At last the day arrived on which the fair Anna must leave with her father for home. To act at once was the only alternative, and at 10 o'clock the twain slipped out of the house, and went to a "Squire," by whom they were soon made one. Then back to the hotel they went nor disclose the secret to the father. In a few hours Mrs. Cramer and her doting father were on their way home, and arrived safely. Mr. Cramer took no steps to claim his bride until two weeks since, when he disclosed the fast of their marriage to Mr. Fisher, who was very indignant theresit, and swore that his daughter should never live with her husband. He detained her clothes from her, and would not permit her to leave his house under any circumstances. Mr. Creamer then applied to the law for redress, and the result was the issuing of the babeas cor-pus by Judge Emmet. On Thursday next the examination takes place.

A CHILD SCALDED BY HER FATHER,-Officer Sxidmore, of the Fourth Precinct Police, yesterday arrested a man named Bailey, who resides in Stenben street, near Myrtle avenue, on the charge of drunkenness. It appeared subsequently that in the morning he called his daughter and requested her to get out of bed and go to work, she being employed in a factory. PROBABLE HOMICIDE. - About 11 o'clock on Wedn day night the inmates of a tenement house in Newark avenue near South Sixth street, Jersey City, were aroused by hearing a heavy fall in the hallway below. Upon going down to ascertain the cause, they found a tunnel man named James Sullivan lying insensible in a pool of blood. Drs. Senderling and Quidor were called in, and upon examination found eight knife wounds upon the body and head. Two of the wounds were in the region of the heart, one of which is supposed to have penetrated the lungs, and will probably prove fatal.

As far as can be ascertained, the injured man and a negro named Elijah Jones, were on intimate terms with a white girl, who was in the habit of resorting to the tenement houses known as " Dutch-row." The two men happened to meet there on Wednesday night, and became engaged in a quarrel in reference to the girl, who was also present. They afterward met in the street, when the quarrel was resumed and a desperate fight took place, during which Sullivan received

AMERICAN GEOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL SO-TETY .- This Society held its November session at its rooms in Clinton Hall, last evening, Mr. Archibald Russell, Vice-President, in the Chair. The business of the meeting was opened with the usual routine, including the acceptance of several new members who had been proposed at a previous session. The Secre-tary reported the receipt of letters from Foreign Societies in almost every capital in Europe. The Librarian reported the receipt of about two hundred and ninety volumes, beside a variety of pamphlets and journals from foreign individuals. A Nominating Committee of three was appointed, consisting of Judge Daly, and Mesers. Viele and Moore, to indicate candidates for officers of the Society to be chosen at its next meeting.

A letter was introduced from Prof. A. Guyot of Princeton-others were introduced from Carl Ritter, the celebrated German geographer, directed to Prof. Lieber and George Bancroft. Since the letters by the last-named gentleman, Mr. Ritter has died, and it Was proposed that this Society make some demonstration in memory of the illustrious deceased; but on motion further action was postponed till the next meeting. A chart of the track of the Fox to the Arctic regions in search of the remains of Sir John Franklin as presented by Mr. Disturnell.

Mr. D. W. Fisk, Secretary of the society, then read a paper translated from the Icelandic by the reader, and composed by an unrevealed individual, on the history, resources, revolutions, and present condition of Iceland. The paper was interesting throughout. The reading being concluded, on motion of Dr. Thomspeon, thanks were returned to the Secretary for his accurate translation, and to the author for the valuable production. The Society then adjourned.

THE ALLEGED BREACH OF TRUST IN WALL STREET .- The Journal of Commerce has the following version of this case to which we alluded yesterday,

She again fell asleep, and the father took a kettle of boiling water and threw it upon her. She was severely scaled, but the injuries are not of a dangerous churacter. She will, however, be incapacitated from following her usual occupation for some time. The saccused was committed to await examination.

Mr. Rader is possessed, as we understand, of considerable property, and has been regarded as a gentleman of strict integrity, a character which we trust will be fully vindicated on the settlement of this unpleasant controversy. He has been doing a large business, and was considered as one of the leading brokers in the foreign tobacco trade."

MOZART DENOCRATIC GENERAL COMMITTEE.—The Mozart Democratic General Committee met at Mozart Hall last evening, and were in secret conclave for upward of two hours. Charles A. May occupied the chair. Fernando Wood, Chairman of the Committee on Charter Election, reported in favor of certain dates for the holding of the various primary elections. The report was adopted, and the Committee adjourned.

THE STEAMSHIP WESER WITHDRAWN FROM THE BREMEN LINE .- The steamship Weser, originally appointed to sail from Southampton on the 18th ult., has been temporarily withdrawn from the Bremen line, and will not resume her trips this year.

THE SUNDAY PAGEANT.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.

Sir: I regret to see the announcement of the parade in honor of Senator Broderick for Sunday next. We are recorring slewly from the demoralization caused by Sunday tippling and other abuses of our only day of quiet; and every good citiven is rejeding in the manifest improvement. Will not any sum-out of firemen, with their bands of music, and, perhaps, their regimes &c., tend to restore the oid order of things; to interrupt the worship in our churches, and to establish an unhappy precedent? Were there any necessity kontrolling the choice of that particular day—other than that of pride or selfidines—objections might be raised. As it is please that to the Committee having this matter in charge, that Mr. Broderick's name will go down to posterity more favorably if his friends retain from associating it with a needless investor of the rights and feelings of Sunday-leving citizens.
